MADISON SQUARE GARDEN. New York, July 5.—Having lifted their candidates to a new high record, failing to bring him even within striking distance of the nomination, the McAdoo managers in the democratic national convention interrupted the balloting for a nominee today with several futile attempts to change the parliamentary situation to their own advantage.

On each successive proposal the anti-McAdoo forces operated with surprising solidarity and in some cases the McAdoo people were unable to muster more than a small part of their own voting power for the proposals submitted by their leaders.

One of the resolutions voted down by an overwhelming majority would have provided for adjournment of the convention to meet again in Kansas City July 21. The McAdoo ranks broke right and left when an attempt was made to muster them in support of the plan and the opposition was so predominant that when New York was reached on the roll it was learned that it be relieved of the necessity of casting its ninety votes for rejection. The request was denied under the rules.

Previously the convention, dividing more evenly and with the McAdoo delegates voting in the affirmative had refused to adopt a resolution under which the low candidates on successive ballots would be dropped from the list until the field was narrowed down to the leaders.

Rising to a new prominence in the floor fight that accompanied these decisions, George E. Brennan, leader of the Illinois Democrats, was every way about the convention hall conferring with the Smith and favorite leaders and exhorting the delegates to stand firm against the new form of attack launched from the camp of the McAdoo supporters.

It was further apparent that the anti-McAdoo forces were verging toward an all tight organization, while a group of the Smith and favorite commissioners met to consider the possibility of a compromise that would nominate a candidate by leaving McAdoo entirely out of the reckoning. Some of the conferees appeared hopeful of results in that direction before the day was over.

An effort also was started to organize a steering committee with a member from each state to smooth out the situation to the satisfaction of the two-thirds delegates. Brennan at first seemed to be well disposed toward the plan but opposition developed immediately among the titular leaders of the Smith cohorts and there seemed to be little hope of progress. It was pointed out that McAdoo, having control in a majority of the states, might exercise a dominating power on any such committee.

Meantime the convention was voting down another proposal to eliminate favorite sons and to abolish after a time both the unit rule and the two-thirds rule.

The proposition brought forward by a McAdoo delegate from Texas did not receive sufficient support to warrant a roll call.

CALL CONFERENCE OF MANAGERS TO SOLVE TANGLED SITUATION

(By The Associated Press)

MADISON SQUARE GARDEN. NEW YORK, July 5.—Franklin D. Roosevelt and Norman Mack, leaders of the Smith candidates for the presidential nomination, called a general conference today of all managers of favorite son candidates. Some of those attending the meeting believed an agreement might be perfected by which a candidate acceptable to all would be supported by their united forces.

Meanwhile the convention was voting down another proposal to eliminate favorite sons and to abolish after a time both the unit rule and the two-thirds rule.

The proposition brought forward by a McAdoo delegate from Texas did not receive sufficient support to warrant a roll call.

IMAGE NEEDS SHAVE

SUNBURY, Pa., July 4.—Grass whiskers have begun to grow on Shikellamy's Face, a rock profile on a hill near here. The big stone face, a historic feature of the mountains, was said to have resembled the head of the great Indian chief who ruled the Susquehanna valley for many years.

Gov. Brandon, of Alabama, said as he left the conference room in the convention hall that he believed a "shave" would be made up soon and with the united Smith and favorite son support would receive the two-thirds vote required for a nomination, thus ending the deadlock.

Steamer Three Rivers Burns to Water's Edge—Missing Are Newsboys

(By The Associated Press)

BALTIMORE. Md., July 5.—Three dead, five boys missing and at least 12 persons injured, were seriously wounded in the tale brought here today by the survivors of the sidewheeler Steamer Three Rivers of the Baltimore, Chesapeake and Atlantic Railway Company with 250 passengers aboard, which burned to the water's edge early today in the Chesapeake Bay near Cove Point.

This total, which was learned from weeping hysterical persons clad in makeshift clothing as they left the rescue steamer Middlesex of the same line, may be swollen when accurate figures are available.

(By The Associated Press)

BALTIMORE. July 5.—Two persons a negro man and woman are known to have lost their lives when the Bay Steamer Three Rivers was burned off Cove Point early today, a wireless despatch from a newspaper reporter on board, to the paper stated.

Three hundred and fifty passengers were rescued and are proceeding to Baltimore on the steamer Middlesex. The Three Rivers was burned off Cove Point early today, a wireless despatch from a newspaper reporter on board, to the paper stated.

Later it was learned that five newsboys, all members of the Baltimore Evening Sun's News boy Band, were missing.

The dispatch gave no details. Another wireless message said the passengers were taken off by the steamers Allegheny and Middlesex. This dispatch, sent by the Captain of the Allegheny to the Baltimore, Chesapeake and Atlantic Railroad Company, owner of the Three Rivers, said that the Three Rivers was burned to the water's edge; that the passengers were rescued by the steamer Allegheny and Middlesex, and were all on board and the Middlesex bound for Baltimore. It mentioned no casualties. The Three Rivers was loaded to her capacity chiefly with Baltimore people returning from Crisfield, where they had gone to see the Chesapeake Bay boat races yesterday.

Telephoning the first report of the fire, the Maritime Exchange observer at Cove Point reported that he saw the Three Rivers burning in the middle of the bay at 2:15 a. m. He had been no improvement during the night and morning and the case continued "very serious."

The sixteen-year-old boy is making a strong battle against the infection which has spread throughout his system as a result of a blister on the foot sustained in playing tennis.

Another conference of physicians was held early today and afterwards it was said the patient was still very ill. Following its usual course, the poison in its spread has caused high fever and intense pain. Those in consultation were Major Coupland and Lieutenant Commander Boone, the White House physicians. Dr. C. W. Richardson, Washington specialists and Col. Wm. L. Keller, of Walter Reed hospital.

The president was at his office as usual early today but left for a while in the middle of the morning to take a walk about the White House grounds. While at the office he conferred with Secretary Wilbur on government business and made one other appointment. All engagements for the day, however, were subject to cancellation.

Mrs. Coolidge is remaining constantly at the bedside of her son.

The following cases were disposed of in police court this morning:

Wm. J. Winsor colored, false premise case dismissed. James Thomas, colored, violating the Layman liquor law, case continued. Bessie Stover and Fannie Mae Johnson, two colored belles, paid $2.50 and the costs for assault on each other. W. M. Matthews, Joe Flinn and Henry Martin, all colored, were taxed with $6 and the costs for charges of gambling. The case of Bertrice W. Pullman for assault, was continued. A. C. Franklin paid the cost in a case charging him with letting his dog run around loose. Jessie Cooper assault, fined $1 and the costs.

Good Morning Judge!

The police court docket this morning was unusually light in view of the fact that it was the day after the Fourth, and which in past has found a large number of overzealous citizens facing charges of being drunk and disorderly on the morning after the night before. However, the day was a record-breaker in Danville for quiet and noiseless proceedings, with the result that only two or three people answered to the charges of being drunk and appearing in public places when their names was called this morning. In addition to these there were a few minor cases of assault and gaming, and violating the layman liquor law.

ELIMINATION MOVE

MADISON SQUARE GARDEN. NEW YORK, July 5.—A resolution to eliminate favorite sons from the ballot one by one until only five candidates for the presidency remained in the running failed to receive the necessary two-thirds today in the Democratic national convention.

Car Is Wrecked
Negro Is Unhurt

An Essex touring car, belonging to Jim Bailey, colored, was brought in this morning in a badly damaged condition, the front being practically torn off and the fenders and doors bent and twisted out of shape. According to Bailey, he was driving along on the South Boston road and met another car, the driver of which failed to dim his lights, and which blinded him so badly that his car was turned over by the side of the road. The driver of the other car did not stop and Bailey was unable to ascertain who was driving it.

Platform Embodying His Principles Expected to Be Adopted Today.

CLEVELAND, O., July 5.—The conference for progressive political action recessed at 12:55 p. m. until 2 p. m.

(By The Associated Press)

CLEVELAND, O., July 5.—United States Senator Robert M. LaFollette for president of the United States and a platform embodying his principles will be adopted late today by the conference for progressive political action here, unless all plans of leaders go wrong.

No word against the Wisconsin leader has been heard from any of the delegates following his message to the convention yesterday in which he agreed to lead the progressive election gathered here and the resolutions committee of the convention openly announced it was taking the LaFollette platform rejected by the Republican convention as basis for the Republican convention as basis for their document.

The platform which the conference adopted at the February meeting in St. Louis will also be used as one of the foundations supports of the declaration of independence to be presented here today.

A spirited contest may develop on the floor over whether there should be a third party organized and named by this convention. The socialist groups in the convention are making a determined fight for such action, but there are many and many today they appear as a majority, who would endorse, or even nominate LaFollette with a running mate, without organizing a party, as such, or putting a name to their movement.

This idea was expressed by the organization committee when Edward Keating, a member of the national committee of the organization argued that it would, in his opinion, be better to go along as a non-partisan organization than to form a third party and become partisan through the existence of such an organization.

No name other than that of LaFollette has been mentioned for president at this gathering, but several names have cropped up in the progressive minds of delegates relative to a running mate in the Wisconsin Senator. Among these are Senator Wheeler of Montana, Senator Shipstead of Minnesota, D. B. Robertson, president of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers and Huston Thompson, chairman of the federal trade commission. Lobby gossip also brought out that the nomination of a woman is not beyond the possibilities.

The first business of the convention today was the adoption of the permanent roll call as reported by the credentials committee. Then came the committee on organization with its third party argument and this was to be followed by a report of the resolutions committee which promised its platform early. The endorsement of LaFollette was expected to be the final action of the convention before adjournment.

WILL POSTPONE VICE PRESIDENTIAL NOMINATING

(By The Associated Press)

CLEVELAND, O., July 5.—Postponement of a vice presidential nomination was agreed upon by leaders of the conferences for progressive political action today. The convention will be asked to entrust selection of such a candidate to a committee which would confer with Senator LaFollette after the Democratic nomination has been made.

The first business of the convention today was the adoption of the permanent roll call as reported by the credentials committee. Then came the committee on organization with its third party argument and this was to be followed by a report of the resolutions committee which promised its platform early. RAPID GROWTH OF TELEPHONE SYSTEM

Improvements are to be made and additional equipment placed in the Danville central office of The Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company at a cost of $39,000. The work is to be started about January 1, 1925, and it will require three months to its completion. Manager H. O. Eanes said today.

One new section of switchboard with positions for three operators will be added and this will give 500 more subscribers lines and 540 more "answering jacks," where the operators answer the calls of users of the service. The rural and toll line facilities will also be improved.

The new work is made necessary by the growth of the telephone system in Danville and the increased use which is made of it by a constantly growing list of subscribers. At present there are 400 telephones in use in the city and served through the central office. Estimates of the growth of the system based on the past indicate that on January 1, 1929, there will be 5,422 telephones in service here. The number is expected to grow every year between now and then because of the increasing necessity of the telephone in business and social life.

"California Fig Syrup" is Children's Harmless Laxative

Children love the pleasant taste of "California Fig Syrup" and gladly take it even when bilious, feverish, sick, or constipated. No other laxative regulates the tender little bowels so nicely. It sweetens the stomach and starts the liver and bowels without cramping or overacting. Contains no castor oil or soothing drugs.

Tell your druggist you want only the genuine "California Fig Syrup" which has directions for babies and children on all areas printed on bottle. You must say "California Fig Syrup" or get an imitation.

BAVARIA TO CELEBRATE ADVENT OF HOME BREW

MUNICH, July 5.—"Brewing your own" in Bavaria, famous for its beers, was started 300 years ago this summer, according to the best information that has been handed down from generation to generation, and plans have been inaugurated to celebrate the event in some fitting manner within the next few months.

The first hop vines are said to have been brought to this section of the country by monks, who soon after began brewing their own beer, but where they got the vines history does not tell.

Hop gardens existed in parts of France and Germany in the eighth and ninth centuries, but it was not until the seventeenth century that hop cultivation and beer drinking became popular in continental Europe.

CLAIMS MADE FOR SEERESS

MUNICH, July 5.—Elizabeth Ebertin claims to know what is destined to happen to German in 1924-27. Her prediction for this spring, made in February, included failure of banks, the death of several very rich personalities belonging to the financial world, and the revelation of fraud on a large scale.

The death of Stinnes and Heifferlich and the failure of the Neuville bank are pointed to by Frau Ebertin's friends as evidence of her ability to foresee the future.

M'LEAN RESIGNS FROM MARKET NEWS SERVICE

The resignation of Charles McLean as head of the market news service of the State Division of Markets was announced yesterday by J. H. Meek, director of the division. In announcing this resignation effective yesterday, Mr. Meek stated that Rodman A. Brayton had been appointed to fill the position.

Mr. McLean who has been head of news service since August 1923, will shortly assume a position with the Richmond branch of the National Surety Company.

Mr. Brayton will take over the news service Monday. He has been employed in this line of work with the Federal government in New Jersey and the newspaper's informant, was severely cut and bruised and later came to this city in a car passing the scene of the mishap and had her hurts dressed by a local physician. She was able to resume her journey to her home after treatment. The accident occurred about 6 P.M. A child in the car had her lip split slightly, but the others were more fortunate.

As far as could be learned, the car was not damaged by its tumble and overturn. This is the second experience recently near this city wherein motor cars have been swerved down embankments on the roadside and turned over, without seriously injuring any one.

BEE-STING CAUSES CAR TO PLUNGE DOWN ROADSIDE

A gentleman returning from Greensboro last night reported another automobile mishap resulting from the sting of a bee, this time of one of the bumble or humble variety, the accident occurring near Ruffin. A party of four or five persons in a Ford touring car were victims to the extent of scratches and bruises, while one young lady sustained severe lacerations which made it desirable to seek treatment by a physician.

When the bee invader stung the chauffeur of the car, he involuntarily and unwarily swerved the controller wheel so sharply that the car left the road and turned over completely, giving all its occupants a shaking up and frightening all on board. One of the passengers, Miss Merkel, whose place of residence was not learned by the newspaper's informant, was severely cut and bruised and later came to this city in a car passing the scene of the mishap and had her hurts dressed by a local physician. She was able to resume her journey to her home after treatment. The accident occurred about 6 P.M. A child in the car had her lip split slightly, but the others were more fortunate.

As far as could be learned, the car was not damaged by its tumble and overturn. This is the second experience recently near this city wherein motor cars have been swerved down embankments on the roadside and turned over, without seriously injuring any one.

Manufacturers—Sell Your Goods Nearer Home At Less

Southern manufacturers would find it to their advantage to concentrate their sales efforts on the states nearby. Freight rates are in their favor, and it costs less to travel salesman. Intensified sales effort in all the Southern states will produce results.

South Carolina Has Hardly Any Foreign Population

This is one of the all-American states. Out of almost two million people, less than 5,000 are foreign born. This means that South Carolinians can be easily influenced as a mass, because their buying habits are much alike.

South Carolina Offers Great Opportunities For Selling Campaigns

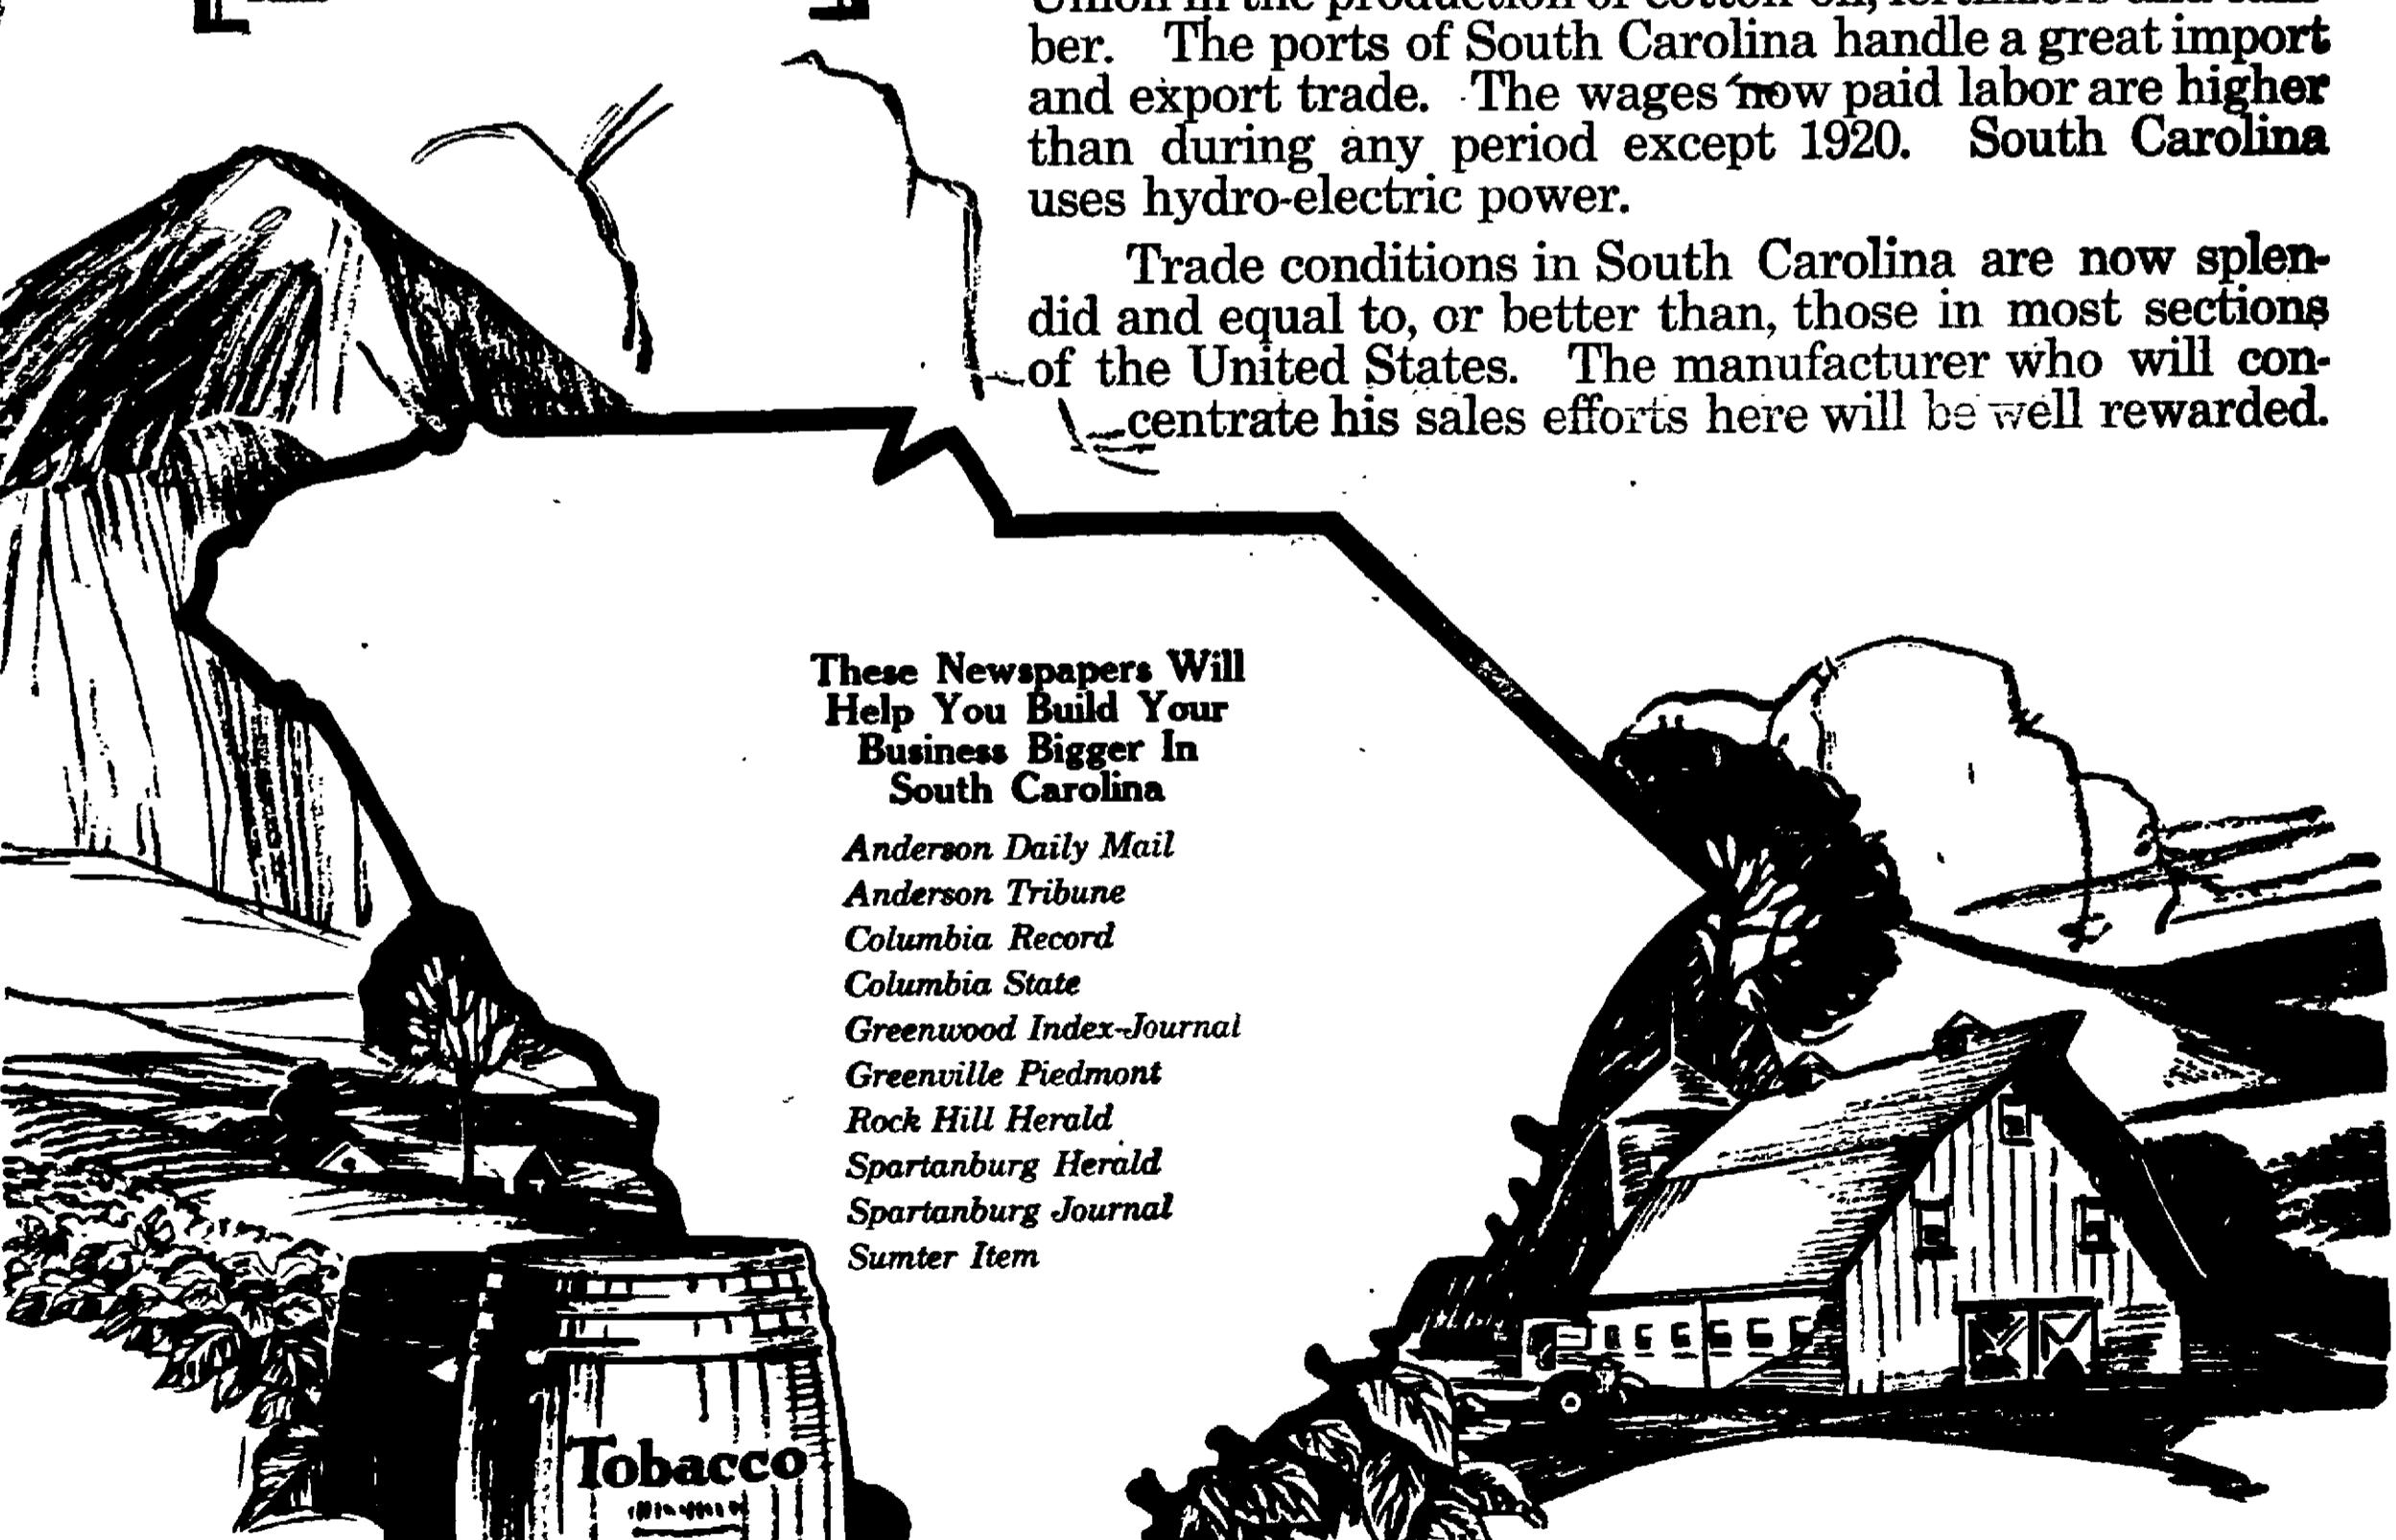

South Carolina is a wealthy agricultural state. In 1920 it led all of the other states in the Union in the value of its products, per cultivated acre.

South Carolina ranks third of all the states in the Union in the production of cotton oil, fertilizers and lumber. The ports of South Carolina handle a great import and export trade. The wages now paid labor are higher than during any period except 1920. South Carolina uses hydro-electric power.

Trade conditions in South Carolina are now splendid and equal to, or better than, those in most sections of the United States. The manufacturer who will concentrate his sales efforts here will be well rewarded.

Sectional Feeling and Klan Issue Factors In Deadlock

the party—an almost impossible task at this writing. The compromise conditions, therefore seem to have the best chance of ultimate victory. Senator Oscar Underwood, of Alabama, satisfied the Smith men and since he comes from the south the hope of his friends is that the southern states now supporting McAdoo will not obstruct his nomination. John W. Davis of West Virginia, would satisfy both sides, though he has not said a word about the Klan issue whereas Underwood has made the fight against it and is for that reason first of the Smith delegates for a compromise.

William Jennings Bryan's real opposition to Smith is that he is not a member of the West. He opposes Underwood for the same reasons and Davis because of his connections with the West Street Corporation. As between the two he would probably favor the West Virginian as he has not been a pronounced wet through as an Anti-Saloon League leader expressed, he has been about "fifty fifty" with his votes on the liquor issue congress and elsewhere.

Newton D. Baker, is now the hope of Ohio, since James M. Cox withdrew. Senator Glass of Virginia, has himself urged his delegation to go to McAdoo but the story is that Thomas Fortune Bryan has more influence than Glass and that the delegation is more inclined to favor either Davis or Underwood. END OF GOLD IN SIGHT?

In 30 or 40 years the great gold mines of the world will all shut down for good, predicts Dr. G. Berg, of the Prussian Geological Institute.

His idea is that, by that time, the mines will have been worked to the point where it will no longer pay to operate them.

And new mines of importance are not apt to be discovered, for practically the whole world has already been prospected for the precious yellow metal, Berg argues.

However—

Only a few years ago American geologists were predicting a permanent shortage of oil, with no new big oil pools to be discovered. Enormous oil pools continue to be opened up periodically, nevertheless. Right now there is a world surplus of oil.

On the other hand, assume that

Berg is right. Fascinating possibilities present themselves. It is claimed by experts from the ground by man is still in man's hands.

Bit by bit, it is lost here and there;

such as gold rings dropped in deep water. Huge gold cargoes have been sunk at sea.

If no more gold were to be found in the earth, the available supply of gold would steadily decrease.

The vanishing of the world's supply of gold might be more of a blessing than a calamity. For one thing, it would compel man to put his money system on a scientific basis—as, for instance, making the dollar represent a certain number of units of human energy or labor. Instead, we have the gold system, based on the element of scarcity—for gold, after all, is worthless except for filing teeth and other purposes where its ability to withstand corrosion is valuable.

If lead were as scarce as gold, lead would be worshiped and be used as the basis of money. Gold has been condemned as the inader to greed, dishonesty, murder and other crimes and forms of degradation.

But that is not quite fair to gold.

Gold is just the symbol of scarcity.

The real culprit is scarcity, which appeals to the peculiar human instinctive craving to own anything that is rare enough to be available only for a few.

INVENTED BY WOMEN

Did you ever know a woman to invent anything? American women have invented and patented nearly 1400 devices.

A check-up shows that when women put their inventiveness to work they usually turn out household appliances. Women have invented washing machines, clothes dryers, hangers for hats, ironing beaters, marmalade makers, clothes and soap through.

Next time that you are traveling in their brains, be sure to look around the way from here to there. The travel services were conducted by Rev. W. N. Farnam, the author being made at the home front.

Farm women have invented and patented many useful articles—butter beaters, cheese cutters, can openers and seed planters.

Business women have organized railroad equipment, office furniture, toys, musical instruments, household equipment and so forth.

When old men have failed to invent the sewing machine, women did the point where he was born. His wife got tired of having him sit around in the way, so she sat him aside, set down her needle and gave it a few whacks on the head, the thread went through the needle, down ... down ...

In a flash she said, "I have had that bad habit for years. I've got all the credit of course."

Woman is quick to find a solution to problems. One invented a cow-tail holder to stop being swished during milking. Another devised a stronger chopping bowl after the one she was using split in two and spilled its contents in her lap. Still another invented a pie pan with a special lid to keep juices from boiling over into the oven.

The list is long, these things created and patented by women. It includes nearly every major form of human activity. Women, whose place once was in the home in fact, is steadily branching out into an increasing multitude of industries.

All of which is not surprising to any man who has ever observed and marveled at the thousands of things women can do with that marvelous contraption, a bent hairpin.

SPEAKING OF HAPPINESS

Marguerite Clark, once a famous and petite star of the screen—the only real rival Mary Pickford ever had—has written an engaging little story about how she found happiness. It was, in brief, when she gave up her movie stardom, married Harry P. Williams, in Louisiana, and settled down to raise—chickens, dogs and flowers.

Babies? Marguerite does not mention them as identified with her scheme of joy, strange to say. And yet no normal woman has yet found the fullness of true happiness, no home has attained that completeness that its name implies, until there are babies to bosom and house.

It is not mere sentiment that these words voice, but it is expression of that law of nature out of which comes motherhood, the greatest, loveliest thing in a human world.

The love of a dog is fine. Marguerite, and flowers make fragrant and colorful surroundings, but neither one nor both can possibly supply the beauty and great happiness of life that it is given only to woman to know and feel, in the flesh of a truth, and the heart of a dove. Of a truth, a great man.

"But certainly," I agreed.

I congratulated my friend, parted from him with mutual expressions of esteem, and walked toward the river. And the farther I walked, the more incredible it seemed, to me that the White Eagle, or M. Armand Cochet, could be engaged in such an astounding philanthropy as that in which I had discovered him this morning. And yet, battling against my disbelief, was my knowledge of the impetuous kindnesses of those who live by their wits. Perhaps the White Eagle pacified his conscience by such a typically Gallic chivalry.

But criminals do not ordinarily attract public attention. Of course, though I must not forget, that according to my fair companion of last night, the White Eagle had never yet been convicted of crime. Perhaps he did not fear public interest in him. But it was among the ordinary probabilities that one or more of the Higgins was worth of note. His white waistcoat was fastened with emerald buttons; he wore a solitaire diamond on one hand that must have weighed a dozen carats and been worth a fortune. A solid rope of diamonds hung from his watch pocket, supporting a ruby fib.

His vulgarities had formed the basis of half the smoke-room talk during the trip, but this ostentation, in excessively bad taste, outside anything else. But he was diffident as compared with his wife.

It was not alone that her gown was cut so low that one blushed with vicarious shame, wondering that so ill-formed a woman should care to expose her muddy flesh; it was not that her jewels were so expensive even if it was a six week's wage to buy an allowable number of them. She seemed masterless with previous stones, until one forgot how low her dress was cut. I had read of her jewels, but had assumed that the newspaper writers had been guilty of the usual Sunday supplement exaggeration. Now I knew that they had been restrained.

And one jewel, a pearl hanging from a chain until it rested like a round white grape upon her bosom, held my fascinated eyes. It drew my companions' attention, too, for one of them, Brokaw by name, mentioned it.

"Get the pearl?" he whispered. "Got any idea what that thing's worth?"

I shook my head. "I know," he said. "It was in Maret's on the Rue de la Paix, the day they bought it. Me," he chuckled, "buying a thousand franc brooch to take home to the Missus, and thinking what a hit I'd make with her." And in comes Higgins and his wife, and at the top of his lungs old Josiah declares that he's come for the Banee's Pearl, and that he's brought his check for a million francs with him. Believe me, friends, I almost died with shame to think how I'd been haggling over my little brooch. I paid what they asked, apologized for annoying them, and sneaked out. One million francs, and no matter what the exchange is, that's more than I ever earned.

AGED NEGRO WOMAN DIES AT LEAKSVILLE

(Special to The Bee)

LEAKSVILLE, N. C., July 4.—Nancy Galloway, colored, was one of the few persons who lived to pass the century mark, and when she died last Monday, she had rounded out 115 years, six months and one day. Aunt Nancy, as she was called, was quite a remarkable character in many ways. She has always been blessed with splendid health, and had only required the services of a physician prior to her last illness. Fifteen years ago she suffered a light stroke of paralysis, and Dr. Pittling was called in to prescribe for her. Until she became ill about a week ago, she was able to walk about the house and yard, and was unusually cheerful and cheerful for one of her advanced age. Her husband, Aaron Galloway, 84, died twenty-eight years ago. Aunt Nancy has made her home with her daughter, Aaron Galloway, in Leaksville. She had no children living at the time of her death, but was survived by a number of grandchildren and great-grandchildren, who will fill her presence very soon. The funeral services were conducted by Rev. W. N. Farnam, the author being made at the home front.

Farm women have invented and patented many useful articles—butter beaters, cheese cutters, can openers and seed planters.

SYNOPSIS

John Ainsley, a man of education and breeding, becomes a master crook—preying upon other thieves. In Paris he visits the Jardin des Tuilleries with two other Americans.

A tall, white-haired man is pointed out to him as the White Eagle, himself a super-criminal.

Ainsley suspects that the White Eagle is attempting to swindle Mr. and Mrs. Josiah Higgins, wealthy Cincinnati, Ohio, persons, who are seated at a table with him. Next morning Ainsley finds that a club for one-eyed men has been founded on the Rue des Saintes Peres. He has reason to believe the White Eagle to be the founder, and questions a one-eyed man who comes out of the building.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

"But you, monsieur!" He almost cowered in delight. As I have said, my French is feeble. Yet I managed to gather from his excited speech that all the applicants had been admitted to Club membership, that not only were there no dues, but that those members who were in need were granted annuities, that the Club was to have an outing upon a river steamer next week, on which occasion detailed plans were to be submitted to the membership by its benefactor.

"Did you meet the patron himself?" I asked.

"M. Armand Cochet? But surely, monsieur. A noble gentleman, white of hair, and with a manner of a prince."

"I think I saw him yesterday," then, "said the man. "A man with a great nose."

"Monsieur is correct," said the man. "And with an eye like an eagle and the heart of a dove. Of a truth, a great man."

"But certainly," I agreed.

I congratulated my friend, parted from him with mutual expressions of esteem, and walked toward the river.

And the farther I walked, the more incredible it seemed, to me that the White Eagle, or M. Armand Cochet, could be engaged in such an astounding philanthropy as that in which I had discovered him this morning. Awarded Scholarship

The literary scholarship for Averett College, Danville, awarded by the Waddill-Memorial Barbecue Class, of the First Baptist church, has been awarded to Miss Mabel Stafford, Keen Street. Miss Stafford has also been awarded a scholarship in the department of music.

Glenwood Club

Mrs. George Gilbert entertained the members of Glenwood Club, Thursday afternoon, July 4, at her beautiful home on Ringgold Road. The rooms were handsomely decorated with gladiolas and other garden flowers. The meeting was conducted by Mrs. Leslie Pugh, president of the club. After the business session a delightful program was given, including a vocal duet by Misses Marjory Ray and Mary Gilbert. "Why Women Should Vote," was the subject reading given by Mrs. J. A. Chapman. Those present were: Mrs. Turner Clegg, who was made a member at this meeting; Nedrae Leslie Pugh, H. L. Smith, L. J. Ramey, J. B. Rayne, W. H. Whitaker, Thomas Jeffries, George Gilbert, and Mrs. Dawson. Among the guests of the club were Mrs. George Richardson of Raleigh, N. C., and Mrs. J. A. Chapman, of Cumberland, Maryland.

Adkins—Chapman.

A quiet marriage was celebrated yesterday morning at ten o'clock when Miss Lillie Chapman became the bride of William Adkins. The ceremony was performed at the residence of Rev. J. Clive Holland, in the presence of several of the couple's friends. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Chapman. The groom, a young mechanic, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Adkins. They are residents of this city where they will continue their home.

Double Wedding.

A double marriage was celebrated yesterday afternoon at four o'clock when Miss Mary Elmore of Burlington, became the bride of Levi Payne, and Miss Elizabeth Queen V. Carden of Burlington, N. C., became the bride of Ralph T. Holt of Snow Camp. C. C. Rev. J. Clyde Holland united the couples under one ceremony. The marriages were in no wise an elopement, the young couples coming to this city as a matter of convenience for a quiet marriage. The ceremony was performed in the office of Otis Badley, clerk of the court.

Gathams Girls Entertained.

The following from the Greensboro Record will be of interest here:

Miss Louise Daniel was hostess at an informal tea Tuesday afternoon at her home on West Washington street. Miss Daniel entertained about 75 guests from 5 to 6 o'clock in honor of Mrs. Margaret Sampson of Middlebury, Ky., guest of Miss Elizabeth Simpon, Miss Alice Treadaway and Miss Nancy Jones of Clutham, Va., and Miss Louisa Kuchitzky of Mount Airy, guest of Miss Catherine Gray.

Sandwiches, olives, pink mints, iced tea and raspberry ice were served to the guests. Miss Daniel was assisted in serving by Miss Eunice Stamey and Miss Elsie Fluharty.

The rooms in which the guests were entertained were decorated with pink gauze.

Going Abroad.

According to a Greensboro paper, Mr. Smith Richardson and children left Tuesday for New York, where they will join Mr. Richardson, who is going to New York on Monday. They will sail Friday for London, where they will spend two months. They expect to be away from Greensboro for three or four months, and will visit various parts of Europe after their stay in London.

B. Y. P. U. Meets at Virginia Beach

The Baptist Young People's Union of Virginia will hold their annual convention at Virginia Beach July 1-11. The convention will open at 3 p.m. July 9, with President Rev. W. Marshall Craig, of Petersburg, Va., presiding.

An interesting program of chautauque lectures, conferences, demonstrations of young people's work, special music and other interesting numbers have been provided. One hour each day will be given for brief verbal reports from the delegates.

Some of those taking part on the program are: Rev. J. L. Baggott, Columbus, S. C.; J. M. Kester, Richmond, Va.; Dr. J. W. Cammack, Richmond, Va.; Rev. H. J. Goodwin, Roanoke, Va.; Rev. A. J. Dickinson, Newport News, Va.; Dr. J. T. Watts, Richmond, Va.; Rev. E. J. Wright, Richmond, Va.; Rev. W. Marshall Craig, Petersburg, Va.; Mrs. J. M. Dawson, Waco, Texas, a speaker of rare charm and power will address the convention at the noon hour Thursday, and Friday, Rev. R. Vandeventer, Jackson, Ga., noted traveler, lecturer and preacher, will deliver his famous lecture, "The Bible In Stone." Thursday evening at 8:30, and Friday the subject will be "Westminster Abbey." Large opportunity will be given the young people to participate in the program.

Rev. J. L. Baggott, superintendent of B. Y. P. U. work for South Carolina, will have charge of the music for the three days of the convention.

Field Secretary E. J. Wright anticipates an attendance of 1,000 delegates. The advanced registration greatly exceeds any previous convention. Great enthusiasm prevails among the young people of the state over this, their greatest annual gathering.

Ten competitive banners will be awarded organizations doing the most efficient work the past year. There are 360 local unions in the state, with a total membership of 35,000.

SENATORS AND DETROIT LOSE COUPLE--YANKEES WIN 2 AND GO SECOND

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, July 5.—In the spirit of the modern Fourth of July celebration, the Yankees decided to play safe and sane baseball and keep within striking distance of the pace-making Senators. By virtue of a double victory over the American League leaders and Detroit's two game set back at the hands of St. Louis, New York is in second place, 24 games ahead of the Tigers and 22 games behind Washington.

All-night pitching accounted for the champion's success. Bush turned in a four to two triumph in the morning game and Jones out-generaled Mogridge in a pitching duel, 2 to 0 in the afternoon. Clean fielding featured both contests.

The Browns crept to within 12 points of the third place Tigers, by winning two games, 5 to 2 and 3 to 2. Excellent box work by Vangilder and Davis gave the Browns the edge in both contests.

Staging an uphill come-back in the afternoon, Chicago took revenge on Cleveland for an 8 to 5 forenoon defeat by winning 4 to 3, in ten innings. Joe Dawson, recent acquisition from Indiana from the Kansas City club of the American Association, pitched his first game for his new employers in the afternoon encounter but was wild.

The Athletics pulled the reeling Red Sox two games closer to the cellar by annexing both the morning and afternoon sessions of the holiday bill, 8 to 3 and 5 to 4. Heavy sick work by Lamar, erstwhile Toledo outfielder, featured Philadelphia's attack in the first game and a combination of Rommel's pitching and evenly balanced team batting enabled the Mackmen to repeat in the afternoon.

The Giants shared Independence

Day honors with the Phillies, winning the first game 8 to 2 and losing the second 5 to 2. Home runs by Young and Henline and a triple play by Ford, Sand and Holke were the features. Chicago maintained the four game distance which separates them from the National League champions by breaking even in a double header with St. Louis. Sothoron forced the Cubs to take the whitewashed end of an 11 to 0 score in the first game, which was called in the eighth inning, but Chicago hammered out a 6 to 5 triumph after driven Bell from the mound in the second contest.

The Reds advanced to within 18 points of fourth place by downing the Pirates twice. Luque let Pittsburgh down with four hits for an 8 to shut out in the morning, nad Rixey and Benton held the Corsairs at bay in the second while their team mates registered a 4 to 2 win.

Brooklyn met an unexpected double reverse in Boston, 5 to 1 and 1 to 0. The Robins found McNamara a puzzle in the opener and experienced even greater difficulty with Genewich in the second. Osborne, also pitched well in the latter game, allowing four hits, no more than his opponent. The victories advanced the Braves to sixth place.

RECORD CLAIMED FOR STINNES

BERLIN, July 5.—The claim has been made by German newspapers that the late Hugo Stinnes received more mail on a daily average than any other individual in the world. Figures were not given.

Italian newspapers, however, contend that the Pope receives more letters and newspapers than any person in Europe. It is being estimated that his daily mail averages something like 27,000 pieces.

$160,000 Mere Trifle

NORTH END, Ore., July 5.—"Coal Oil" Joe Smith rubbed the lamp and made his wish.

He had a pair of aces back to back. And in front of him he had a big stack of chips, both blue and yellow.

"Coal Oil" Joe prayed for that pair of aces to stand up.

But the lamp wasn't working just right for him. A moment later he walked out of the smoke-filled room without a dime in his pockets.

Next morning he got a job in a garage. Now "Coal Oil" Joe Yukon prospector, Colorado miner, Coors logger and poker player de luxe, never had played nursemaid to a flyver in all his 47 years.

But he worked hard and mastered his job. That is why he made such a hit with Pete Wold, his boss.

No wonder Wold was surprised when "Coal Oil" Joe came up to him the other day and mumbled:

"I'm sorry, but I gotta leave."

He wiped the grease and grime from his hands and produced a slip of yellow paper. It was a telegram from a New York mining syndicate.

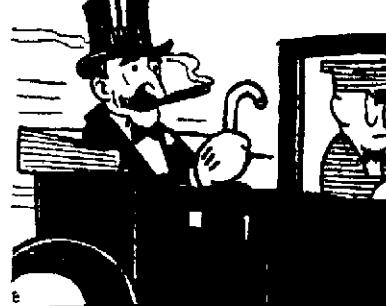

And Pete Wold is waiting for him to come back to his job.

"COAL OIL" JOE

And here's what it said:

"Offer you $160,000,000 for your Colorado land. If you want to consider it meet our representative in Denver."

"But maybe I'll be back soon," said Joe.

"Will you give me my job back?"

Wold promised he would. And "Coal Oil" Joe hurried off to the train.

Now the folks around here are speaking of him as "Mister Smith."

For the Game's Sake

By LAWRENCE FERRY

(Copyright, 1924, by The Bee)

NEW YORK, July 5.—Helen Wills will have all the inspiration that comes from the great annual remembrance day of her nation when she meets Kathleen McKane in the finals of the Ladies Tournament at Wimbledon.

The match will not carry the interest to Americans that a contest between the American champion and Suzanne Lenglen, the champion of the world would have done.

Just the same if the fair Californian beats the gifted McKane she will have done a lot.

A certain amount of friction in the Olympic games is certain to occur, especially in sports which find representatives of the ardent Latin races involved.

As a consequence those who believe in the uses of sport as an international connecting link, should not be daunted over such incidents that which has marred the match between the French and Italian fencing teams when the Italians protested decision of the judge and quit the match when it failed.

Technical points are bound to come up and charges of professionalism—more often than not well founded, probably—are frequently heard. An incident so serious as the disturbance created by spectators at the Amateur French Rugby final need not cause undue alarm. It is all in the game, said to say, whether that game be international, national, sectional or town lot.

Trefftz got his second in the second inning, but was left stranded. Eddie Regan, who distinguished himself by annexing four hits, including a two-sacker, open the third and then McDonald, the home-run clouter for the Champions, drove one over right field fence, barely within the foul line. The Greensboro team protested mightily that the hit was foul, but Osborne had no need to them, relying on his own vision and a better view of the hit than any one else.

Catcher Bill Ernst opened the fourth with a safety, but was forced out on Shoaf rap to Carroll, who made a nice stop. A double play was in prospect, but Zitzke's throw to first was bad and Shoaf was ruled safe.

Regan hit to extreme right for two bases in the fifth, McDonald hit to left and Resco to right, and Regan cantered in with what proved to be the final run of the game.

The fielding was fast and brilliant throughout. Trefftz starring in the outfield with five put-outs, one of which, his catch of Ray's fly, backed him literally against the fence, where he took the hard hit ball with one hand. O'Hara almost duplicated that catch when he snatched McDonald's long fly in one mitt. Myers at short played a great game, and Staley at second was hardly behind him. Both first basemen accepted thirteen chances faultlessly.

The two teams left immediately after the game for Greensboro, where they will play this afternoon at 4:15. McWhirter will probably be Danville's boxer and either Jinx Harris or Elliss will hurl for Carroll.

The morning score follows:

HAWTHORNE TRACK OPEN AT CHICAGO

CHICAGO, July 4.—Hawthorne race track opened its gates to a new racing season July 3. Some fifteen thousand Chicagoans, responding in typical Chicago fashion, made the journey to the far west side and helped make it a gala inaugural.

To the applause and shouts of exultation characteristic of those having a pecuniary interest in the result was lacking as the first day began under the wire. But it must be remembered that six favorites, some heavily played off in defeat, and the winner in each case turned up in extreme outsiders, overlooked entirely by the speculative public.

The biggest upset came in the running of the inaugural Handicap when Judge Pryor stepped out in front and stayed there to beat the best that Kentucky and the East could muster for the first day feature, which carried a $2,500 value.

From the first race to the last it was simply a parade of outsiders that came romping home to victory. Favorites were so badly beaten it seldom landed within the money.

Did the crowd waken on the result? Yes. But it was strictly oral. No money passed and there was not the confusion and disorder that marked the opening a year ago.

Three bookmakers and four alleged customers of the odds givers were arrested.

The Hawthorne that opened its gates was the nearest thing to the modern race track that Chicagoans have visited in their own back yard since the days of Washington Park.

The prices quoted were provided by a well known handicapper and price maker employed by a racing publication. They were the odds accepted by most of those able to get a bet down by the "nod or credit" system.

WHITE HOUSE AGAIN SHROUDED IN GLOOM

WASHINGTON, July 4.—The illness of Calvin Coolidge, Jr., caused a gloom to descend upon the White House on this, the 52nd birthday of the president.

Late in the day Mr. Coolidge accompanied by Secretary Clark, took a short walk about the White House grounds and then returned to the sick room.

During the walk he ran across a young rabbit, and coaxing the bunny into his hands, carried it into the sick room before releasing it.

Thousands of birthday greetings arrived during the day for the president and as friends in Washington became apprised of the illness many cards of sympathy were left at the White House.

AUTO TABSCONCRETE TRACKS FOR AUTOS

Kentucky is experimenting with a highway in which concrete tracks are laid for the automobile.

Four tracks of concrete girders are being laid along that part of a highway where otherwise ruts might be formed by incessant passage of auto wheels. On the other parts of the road, which are used by autos most for passing, plain crushed rock is laid, and over the entire road is a layer of asphalt.

Thus the cost of a good road is centered mostly on the four tracks over which auto wheels mostly pass while not so much attention is paid to the rest of the road.

WORLD'S LARGEST TIRE

What may be the world's largest tire, measuring 64 by 14 inches and weighing 300 pounds on a special wheel is being designed at the Air Service Engineering Division, McCook Field, Dayton, O. The largest tire herefore is a 54 by 12 used on the Barling bomber.

WANT AUTO TITLE LAWS

Uniform auto title laws to be enacted by every state is recommended by the insurance advisory committee of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce. This means is suggested to combat auto thefts more effectively.

NEW TIRE PROCESS

A new tire making process by an English firm is said to be an improvement on the present method. In the new process every strand of cord woven in to the tire is rubber coated before being made into sheet form. This results in greater adhesion between the cords and assures friction set up in the ordinary cord.

SAFETY SIGNAL ON BUS

Two-deck buses operated by only one driver have a unique signal system to advise the driver when all passengers are seated before he can move on. As some one stands in the middle aisle of the upper tier a light rat illuminates a signal in the driver's compartment as broken and the signal darkened. The driver does not go ahead until the signal shows clear.

Rival Auto Clubs Pals Once More

DETROIT July 5—Convention of the American Automobile Association here on July 7 and 8 will formally mark the end of bitter warfare that has long existed among some of the country's greatest auto clubs.

In the folds of the A. A. A. will finally come the National Motorists Association which separated from the parent organizations a few years ago and has just been "on back."

The recently formed New England Motor Federation is also back and for the first time in more than 14 years the A. A. A. convention will include a solid harmonious delegation representing 88 clubs of New York. These clubs had been split up and fighting one another almost since the beginning of motor associations.

Attendance of the New York representatives is made possible thru the recent consolidation of the A. A. A. and the New York Motor Federation.

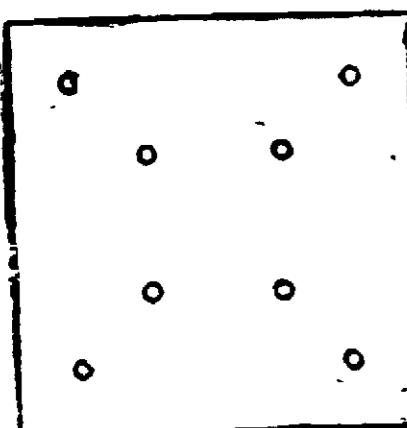

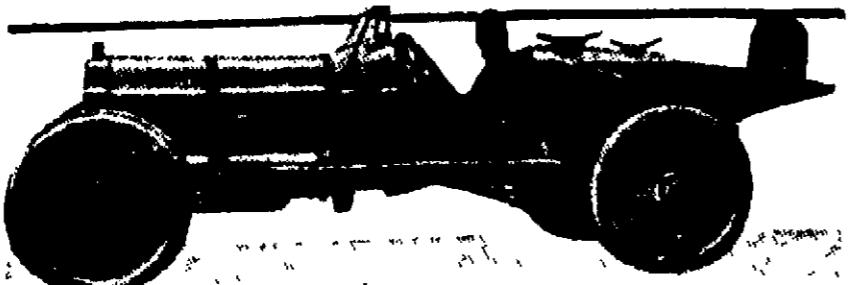

ALL INCLUDED IN THE LONDON CONFERENCE

(By Chicago Tribune.)

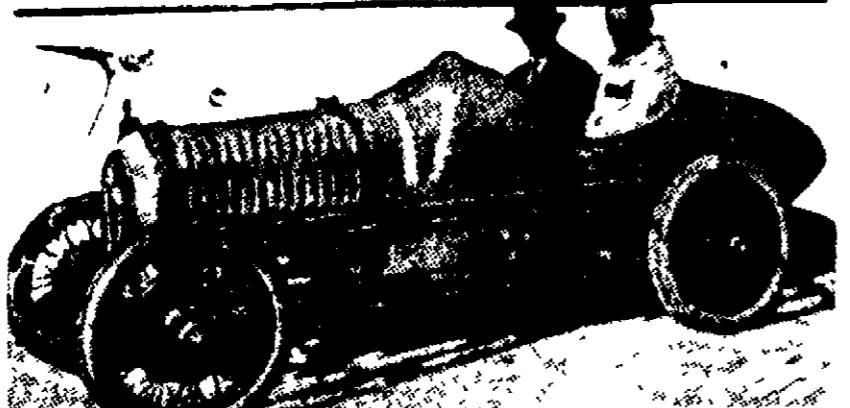

LONDON July 4—I now learn that invitations to the London conference have been issued to the smaller powers as well as to the great powers. These are Greece, Portugal, Roumania, and Jugoslavia. It is determined however, not to include the new powers, such as Poland, Czechoslovakia, and the Baltic states.

I am informed that the great powers have agreed on the appointment of an American chairman for the commission on revenue transfer which will have the duty of deciding when and how reparations payments shall be made and also to decide disturbances of exchange bank rates, etc. An American is likely to be a member of the bank control commission to be set up under the Dawes reparations report. It is announced here that Mr. Owen D. Young of New York is on his way to Europe and will be here during the conference. But it is not known if he has any official mission.

BELGRADE, July 4.—An incident is reported from the Italo-Jugoslav frontier in which two Jugoslav customs officers were killed. The version of the incident as received here is that the customs men were patrolling near three Italian frontier guards who summoned them to halt. When the customs men refused, out that they were on Jugoslav territory according to this account, the Italians opened fire, killing the two officials and wounding a civilian.

DAILY PUZZLEAutos Becoming Smaller

THE WINNER OF THE 1911 RACE WAS THIS MARMON DRIVEN BY RAY HARROUX AND HAVING A PISTON DISPLACEMENT OF 477 CUBIC INCHES

THIS IS A FOREUNNER OF THE 91 CUBIC-INCH CARS THAT MAY BE SEEN IN FUTURE RACES IT IS A 91-INCH TALBOT

By ISRAEL KLEIN

The small automobile is going to be made smaller.

In 1926 according to present signs automobiles entered in the annual 500-mile class at the Indianapolis Speedway will have a piston displacement of 91 cubic inches—the engines going at the rate of more than 5000 revolutions a minute and speeding faster than the bigger machines of previous years.

The history of auto racing points to the steady decrease of engine size for lightness and speed. In 1911 when the first race was run the limit was 600 cubic inches and big lumbering cars weighing 2000 pounds and over made what was then the remarkable speed of 74 5 miles an hour.

Speed Goes Up

Last Memorial Day witnesses at the Indianapolis Speedway saw a light one-man streamline racer tear through 500 miles of track at a speed of 95 24 miles an hour and the size of this racer's engine was only a fifth that of 1911.

At the same time behind the scenes rested an even lighter car—of 91 cubic inches piston displacement—not ready as yet to enter the race but promising to become an important competitor in the next year. Unofficial reports of its recognition stress its importance for the future.

At the time of the first race in 1911 Ralph De Palma's Simplex reached within three inches of the 600 cubic inch limit. It had a bore of 5 3/4 inches and a stroke of 1 1/2 inches.

As her competitor the Fiat which came in third has a displacement of 589 cubic inches with a 5-inch bore and 7 1/2 inch stroke. Tiny Engines

BAR ASSO. FAVERS INCREASE FOR GOV.

(By The Associated Press)

WINCHESTER, Va., July 4.—The Virginia Bar Association expressed its full support today in a resolution favoring an increase of the governor's salary to not less than $10,000 per year.

Plans for the complete reorganization of the association will also be worked out by the officers and members of the executive committee, according to the resolution, in the hope of stimulating interest of members and of realizing for the association the assurance and weight in the affairs of the state to which the character of its membership and the purpose of its incorporation entitle it.

The resolution requests the active cooperation of the judiciary and also incorporates an organization of each city and county in the state where no local society exists. United States membership in the permanent court of international justice also was advocated.

The annual banquet was held tonight at a local hotel. George Bryan, retiring president, was toastmaster. Joseph C. Taylor, judge-elect of the law and equity court, part two of Richmond and Rev. W. J. Neiman, of Washington, were the principal speakers.

George Bryan was succeeded by Robert B. Tunstall of Norfolk as president. Mr. Tunstall was elected without opposition. Other officers elected were:

Vice president, W. W. Cox; Roanoke; John L. Lee, Lynchburg; Phillips Will, Winchester; W. W. Old, Laredo; Peterwinch, W. W. Old, Chichester; Richmond; executive committee, Roswell Page, Hanover; succeeding James H. Price of Richmond; John B. Jenkins Jr., Norfolk; succeeded H. H. Burleigh, Norfolk; N. H. CALIFORNIA BUNGALOW PLANS

California is the home of the bungalow.

Other parts of the country quickly adopted its attractive structures, building the bungalow more substantially because of the colder weather.

But the pretty exteriors and compact room arrangements are retained.

An exceptionally attractive type is shown here. This is a five-room bungalow home.

It has the appearance of a larger house because of the roof.

The terrace that extends the width of the building and the covered entrance porch.

The pergola at the side over the drive to the garage, which follows the same architectural lines as the home, is an attractive feature.

The entrance door leads into a good-sized reception hall, on either side of which are the living and dining rooms, both connected by double cased openings, which give opportunity to throw the two rooms and hall together. Both rooms are light and cheery, having large windows reaching to the floor.

An entrance door at the rear of the reception hall leads to a hall that connects the two bedrooms. The bathroom is readily accessible to all parts of the house, being at the end of the hall.

There are many closets, a feature the housekeeper will like. The basement extends under the whole house providing space for the heating plant, fuel, storage, etc.

The stucco may be applied to wood or metal lath over wood frame, or to brick, tile or concrete. Built in frame with wood or metal lath as a base for the stucco, this home will cost about $65,000, although building costs vary in different localities.

Everyman's Investments

By GEORGE T. HUGHES

Thirty-ninth Article.
Gold Bonds.

"Listen to the conversation at the assistant sales manager's desk." The suggestion came from the sales manager of a banking house on whom I was calling. "Oh, it's quite ethical," the sales manager smiled at my look of surprise. "Nothing confidential. Besides you may get a helpful hint on the way many persons neglect expert advice when they make investments."

Across the aisle the assistant sales manager and a middle-aged woman were considering the house offerings of some twenty-five investment securities. Apparently she was woman of means and they were selecting investments for ten or twelve thousand dollars.

"Here's a good industrial." The sales manager named an excellent bond of a company with a long history of good earnings and splendid management. "I can recommend—"

"Oh, I don't like industrials." With impudent indecisiveness the woman swept that high grade security aside because she had heard some one say at a dinner that he didn't care for industrials.

The assistant sales manager patiently and briefly described the worth of the bond, one I should be delighted to own. Then he named four or five more good securities, skimming the veritable cream from the list and getting in return vague, intangible objections. Finally he suggested an excellent bond, one of the best foreign government external bonds, payable in New York in American gold.

"Oh, I don't like foreign bonds," the woman said.

"But I like a gold bond," exclaimed the assistant sales manager.

"I'll take three of them," replied the woman.

The word "gold" had sold her. The sales manager smiled resignedly. It was a common occurrence, this trying to give people the benefit of years of investment study and then having the customer disregard it and be convinced by a word or phrase that often may be a very minor consideration.

That foreign bond may be payable in American gold dollars of the present worth and fineness is a very pertinent requirement in these days of deflated European currencies and certain political conditions. But it is not the first requirement. The ability of the borrower to pay, whether a government, a corporation or an individual, is the first consideration.

If the borrower is unable to pay, whether a difference whether he has promised to pay in gold, rubles, laurel leaves and fish. Putting the word "gold" in a doubtful security doesn't make it stronger; doesn't increase the ability to pay.

I am not objecting to the precautionary gold payment requirement, but to the fact that many persons exaggerate its importance. Now and then I see a very ordinary bond with a very narrow safety margin behind it labeled as a "gold" bond. And the word "gold" seems to attract people while at the same time it detracts their attention from the more important consideration as to safety.

If you think that the United States may some day be in a condition similar to that of Germany or Russia, insist on "gold" bonds, prevent payment in deflated currencies, but don't get the idea that because a bond recites that it is payable in gold that those few words mean any defects it might have as to safety and general desirability.

(Mr. Hughes' fortieth article will appear in The Bee next Monday.)

INDIAN BOYS IN COLLEGE TRAINED FOR ARMY SERVICE

LAWRENCE, Kan., July 3.—Thirty-sixty youths of American Indians are represented in the two Kansas National Guard units, of 80 men each at Haskell Institute here. These are said to be the only two Indian units in the United States.

Company D of the 137th Infantry was organized at Haskell three years ago. A few days later the Haskell authorities were granted permission to organize a troop of cavalry. The infantry company won out over every competing outfit in field activities at the last Kansas National Guard encampment.

Three white-men, instructors at Haskell, are officers in the cavalry troop. Only two white-men, both officers, are connected with the infantry unit. Walter D. Owl, first lieutenant of the infantry outfit, is a full blooded Indian and the son of a chief.

DIRECTION SYSTEM ELIMINATES STATIC

The directional system of broadcasting reception is one way of eliminating static interference, according to E. F. W. Alexanderson, famous radio engineer and inventor of the Alexanderson alternator, which permits of trans-oceanic wireless telephony.

"The ether is imagined to be a disturbance ocean with waves of every length rolling in from all directions," Alexanderson explains.

"These waves are of the same nature as the signal wave. Those disturbing waves which are of different wavelength from the desired signals can be shut out by the same means as is used for sifting out other signals, that is, by tuning."

"But the disturbing waves, which have the same wavelength as the desired signal are in all respect of the same nature and pass through the tuning system like the signal."

"It is apparent that if some ground for discrimination can be found other than wavelength we would have a higher order of selectivity than is obtainable in the ordinary tuned receiver. Such a principle has been found and has proved to be one of the most important developments in radio communication."

"If a receiver is constructed which is sensitive to waves coming from only one direction, then waves from any other direction can be shut out if they have the same wavelength. This is the principle of directive reception."

SHIPS CUTS WHALE IN TWO
SAN PEDRO, Cal., July 3.—An enormous sperm whale, part of a large school playing about the ship, was struck by the Panama-Pacific liner Finland and cut in half while the liner was off the Mexican coast recently. It was reported on the arrival of the Finland here.

A large portion of the dead mammal became fast to the bow of the steamer in the collision and remained there two days before it could be removed. Captain Munroe said the Finland was delayed several hours by the collision.

HARD PIMPLES ITCHED BADLY
Scattered All Over Face. Cuticura Heals.

"I suffered with pimples and blackheads for a year. The pimples were hard, small and red, and then turned white. They festered and scolded over and I could hardly bear to touch them for when I did they itched badly. The pimples were scattered all over my face."

"I sent for a free sample of Cuticura Soap and Ointment and after using it could see difference. I purchased more, and after using three cakes of Cuticura Soap and one box of Cuticura Ointment I was completely healed." (Signed) Miss Vennie Scherry, R. 3, Box 74, West Texas, Jan. 29, 1924. HIGH

Riding on a railroad dining car we pay these prices: Small glass of orange juice, 40 cents; 2 fried eggs, 35 cents; mutton chop, 45 cents; sirloin steak, $1.65; glass of milk, 15 cents.

These prices will interest farmers, maybe their hair turn gray. Especially Florida orange growers, whose product so often is auctioned off next to nothing.

The railroad diners usually claim they operate at a loss. But something is wrong when the gap between farm prices and prices paid by consumers is so wide it takes field glasses to see across.

POISON

A chemical that counteracts and makes harmless the poison gas used in warfare has been perfected by an Englishman, he claims.

Everything has its neutralizing agent. Ammonia, for instance, neutralizes acid, the two uniting to form a third substance, salt.

The moral is that every yes has its no, every destroyer its disarranger, every problem its solution. Disengagement is foolish, for there is reason always, always a way out, always a remedy.

"MATH"

Hundreds of the world's greatest mathematicians will attend their international conference in Toronto during August.

"Math," with its headache statistics, does not rouse much enthusiasm in most people. Yet it is the most exact science, the only form of knowledge that is absolutely certain and accurate. It is the only universal language—the language that alone can be used for communicating with people, if any, who live on Mars or other planets. Flashing two by radio, then another two, and then four, would convey reciprocal knowledge.

MOON-ROCKET

The big skyrocket that will be shot toward the moon, with a man inside, is nearing perfection. Professor Goddard announces.

It will be used first to explore the earth's atmosphere so far up that airplanes cannot travel there on account of rarity of the air.

At last report, nearly 20 men have applied for the job of traveling inside the super-rocket when it is shot moonward. Would you make the trip for the few hours of thrills such as no man ever before had?

EDITOR FIGURES U. S.
HAS NEARLY 25,000 POETS:
ABOUT 22 REAL ONES

(By The Associated Press)

OAKLAND, Calif., July 3.—Williams Ellsworth, a magazine editor, offered, in a recent lecture at Mills College here, these observations on poetry in this country:

"There are 25 poets to every 115,000 persons. One in 5,000,000 is a real poet."

"One person in every 6,000 in the United States publishes a book of poems. Two hundred volumes of verse appear annually, and 25 of these live."

"The quality of verse in the United States has improved greatly in the last decade."

KING OF AN IRISH ISLAND JAILED FOR MAKING BOOZE

(By The Associated Press)

DUBLIN, July 3.—Innismurray, an historic island in the Atlantic off the coast of Sligo, and described as "the next parish to America" has been discovered to be an active home of the trade in illicit whisky. The civic guards raided it and found eight barrels of potente and large quantities of material with the necessary stills.

The island, like some others on the Irish coast, has a long history of smuggling. Michael Waters, his son sentenced to three months' imprisonment with hard labor and a fine of $125. Two of his associates got the same jail sentence with fines of $125.

A black and white cartoon illustration. On the left, a man in a dark suit and tie stands next to a tall, wire-mesh trash can. In the center, another man in a dark suit and tie is leaning over a large, rectangular metal trash can. The trash can has the word "OXO" printed on its side in a stylized font. The man is looking down at the dog. To the right, a small dog with brown and tan spots is sitting on the ground, looking up at the man. The background is simple with some wavy lines suggesting a wall or floor.

CONTROL YOURSELF,
OXO, CONTROL YOURSELF.
FORGIVE MOON AND
I WILL ADVANCE YOU
SOME MONEY - ISN'T THAT FAIR ENOUGH?

WHAT
FAIRER?

A black and white comic strip panel. In the center, a man in a dark shirt and light pants sits on a large, rectangular trunk. The trunk has the letters "OXO" printed on its top surface. He is gesturing with his hands and shouting. To his left, another man in a striped shirt and dark pants is crouching down, looking at something on the ground. To the right, two other men are standing: one in a suit and hat, and another in a patterned jacket. Three speech bubbles contain the following text:

MOON HAD BETTER STAY AND WATCH YOUR TRUNK, OXO - THERE'S A LOT OF CROOKS AROUND.

HE'D BETTER WATCH IT GOOD. EVERYTHING I OWN IS IN THAT TRUNK.

STAKES GO FOR THE PRESENT.
ELsie -
I'VE GOT ANOTHER
JOB FOR YOU.

THERE, NOW I THINK WE'VE GOT THE RANGE.

A black and white comic strip panel. On the left, a large elephant's trunk is shown from a side-on perspective, its tip pointing towards the center. On the right, a small dog-like character with a dark coat and a light-colored patch on its back is sitting on the ground, facing the trunk. The dog has a determined expression and is holding a small object in its front paws. A speech bubble originates from the dog's mouth, containing the following text:

JUST A SECOND,
ELsie.
WHILE I MOVE HIS
KNOB OUT A BIT.
I DON T WANT
MY TRUNK TO GET SMASHED.

A black and white cartoon illustration. On the left, a large elephant is walking towards the right. In the center, a man wearing a top hat and a long coat is laughing heartily, holding a cane. To his right, another man in a top hat and vest is also laughing. The background features stylized clouds and a banner with stars that reads "POM!".
